

Lock in market performance

6-year annual lock

Often, investing can feel complex. You may prefer a simple approach to maintaining a balanced portfolio. With Lincoln Level Advantage® 6-year annual lock, money allocated to an indexed account allows you to keep any growth, up to the guaranteed 6-year annual performance cap, and have a level of protection to help guard against market losses. You can choose from a range of indexed account options, including the 6-year term detailed here.

Below is a hypothetical example of how a six-year annual lock term works. In this example, the indexed interest is determined and locked in each year over a six-year period. The interest is credited to the Lincoln Level Advantage account at the end of the six-year term.

Let's look at two scenarios

Fluctuating market

Down market

Example is for illustrative purposes only. The example assumes the hypothetical performance cap for the 6-year annual lock term is 12% and the protection level (the amount of market loss Lincoln will absorb) is 10%. A new cap is declared for each additional term. In the event of market growth, the value will grow up to the cap at a rate based on the market index chosen. If the negative return is in excess of the protection level, there is a risk of loss of principal. Performance cap rates are declared weekly and will vary based on the index, term, protection level, and optional death benefit selected.

Indexed accounts are tied to market performance but are not actual investments in the stock market. You cannot invest directly in an index.

Withdrawals and transfers will adversely impact the value of the indexed segment. See prospectus for details.

Any distribution or transfer from an indexed account (other than on the term end date) is based on the interim value of each indexed segment. This value is based on a formula and may not correspond to the current performance of the index you selected. Any distribution or transfer during a term will have a negative impact on the value at the end of the term. This reduction could be larger than the dollar amount of the distribution or transfer. See prospectus for details.

The risk of loss occurs each time you move into a new indexed account after the end of an indexed term. The protection level option selected in the indexed account helps protect you from some downside risk. If the negative return is in excess of the protection level selected, there is a risk of loss of principal. Protection levels that vary based on the index and term selected are subject to change and may not be available with every option. Please see the prospectus for details.
